ISSN (e): 2250 – 3005 || Volume, 05 || Issue, 10|| October – 2015 || International Journal of Computational Engineering Research (IJCER)

A Descriptive study on Training and Development in special reference to NALCO

Mrs. Vikashita Mohanty

Assistant Professor, MBA Department Gandhi Institute for Technology

Bhagyashree Padhi

Assistant Professor, MBA Department Gandhi Engineering College

I. INTRODUCTION

Potential capabilities. Development of human resources is, therefore most critical if the Now a day every organization, industry or company want to achieve the best position than other companies, they take many programs for achieving this, such as team building ,performance appraisal ,job satisfaction, inter personal skill development , quality circle etc. But when the needs of the program are fulfilled than the goal of the organization can be fulfilled. But these program are not fulfilled without taking any training and development program. So training play a very important role for develop of the company. Training can know about the need of the employee of an organization. They are

- Strength and weakness of an employee
- Modify the behavior of the employee at the work place
- After training an employee can know about their role to achieve its organization goal.
- Get the knowledge & skill about the new technology which is recently introduced in the organization.

Conducting and training program:-

Now a days, training program are gaining importance because they help to solve various problem, which are out of the introducing of new lines of production, severe competition, change in design and technique of production, change in volume of business etc. training has become a very significant management toll for bringing about desired change to solve organizational problems and also to achieve organizational goals.

Therefore to be very effective, the training function is required to be organized properly and systematically.

HUMAN RESOURCES DEVELOPMENT POLICY:

NALCO believes that human resources are the most important assets for the company. While all other assets will depreciate with time, human resources alone can appreciate with time in terms of competence, skill and expertise. Human resource have unlimited organization has to remain dynamic and growth oriented. Goals of HRD system in NALCO to create an enabling climate that can continuously identify nurture and utilize the capabilities of its employees to develop the capabilities of each employee as an individual. To develop the capabilities of each employee in relation to his/her expected future job/role to develop a mutually supporting relationship between each employee and his/her supervisor. The main focus of the paper is to develop team spirit and effective functioning of every sub-system of the organization to develop collaboration among different sub-system of the organization. Another concept is to develop overall health and self —renewing capabilities in the organization.

OBJECTIVE OF THE STUDY:

- 1. To study the effectiveness of the training imparted by NALCO and its resultant in the performance of the employees.
- 2. To know the perception of the employees regarding training method in NALCO.
- 3. To enhance whether training helps to motivate employees and helps in avoiding mistakes.
- 4. To identify how training assists the employees to acquire skills, knowledge and attitude and also enhance the same.

For our project we required information like knowledge about the employees, understanding skills generated and the mastery gained and the mastery during the training. Hence, we have taken an insight at the performance of the employees and also through evaluation of performance of the employees and through questionnaires and data received by the management.

II. METHODOLOGY:

Research methodology is systematic way of investigation directed to the discovery of some facts careful study of a subject, a course of critical and scientific inquiry.

The objective of this Internship report is to evaluate the overall Training & Development practices of nalco for its employee s. The main purpose of working on this report is to analyze the strategic human resource management practices of a particular company, also to distinguish between SHRM and traditional HRM. This report also focuses on various other companies HRM practices and relates them without learned theory and how the theories are implied in reallife.

To know the different training methods of nalco. To know the design of the training program and also conduct the training program.

1. Tofindoutthechallengesthatcouldberesolvedwithtraining.

To know the improvements nalcocan take delivering their training program.

- 2. Toknowtheevaluationprocessoftrainingforitsemployees.
- Tofindoutthetrainingsessionandpracticesnalcofollowsavoidingsexualharassment.
- $4. \qquad To find out the improvements nal cocan address in terms of time management, technical skills \& business communications kills.$

Research methodology is purely and simply the framework or a plan for study that guides the collection and analysis of data. Research is the specific way to solve the problems and is necessarily used to improve the market potential. This involves exploring the possible methods one by one and arrive the best solutions considering the availability of resources.

Researchdesign:Descriptive.

Data:PrimaryandSecondarydata.

Research:Surveymethod

ResearchInstrument:Questionnaire

Ihave been followed two main ways while working on this report.

III. FINDINGS:

- 1. The following are the findings for this project:
- 2. Training and Development Process is very important for every organization, for creating effective teamwork. The management of Deccan soft software services recognizes this and they are satisfied with the existing Training and Development process because they are able to get the suitable candidate.
- 3. The new course of the job in the organization will be informed to the students through word of mouth to the maximum extent with the help of the Head of the Department.
- 4. The courses Designed in the organization is informed to the external candidates through want-ads to maximum extent, followed by email campaign informal contacts, The courses in the organization is advertised mostly through newspapers and then by seminars.

IV. CONCLUSION:

To describe the term impact of training &development on work culture is very much large. Proper training and well development is the next meaning of customer satisfaction. Training and development is a very much essential and vital part for an organization and to maintain itself in present scenario. A proper training and development system and not only help organization to make right path, but also prepare organization to face the future change. So a proper and valuable planning is essential for its success and development.

To bridge up the gap between the present and future, training and development is a systematic tool, but very often we find that, sometimes people in the organization are hesitate to involve himself in the process of change or we can say they are not interested to charge the work culture because of various fear i.e loss of job, fear of replacement etc. in this situation is essential to success the total system. Here we conclude that training and development is an important weapon to modify the work culture and has great to develop the society.

REFERENCE:

- [1]. Books referred:
- [2]. Rao .V.S.P HRM EB publication, first edition 2001, Delhi
- [3]. Parichaya-a monthly magazine of NALCO
- [4]. Websites referred:
- [5]. www.gogle.co.in//csr
- [6]. www.wikipedia.com
- [7]. www.nalcoindia.com